BOXING CONTESTS AT COLEMAN, AUGUST 26

JIMMY BURRILL

Crows' Nest Pa's boxing fans will be treated to one of the best boxing cards held in the Pass for some time, Saturday, August 26, at the Coleman arena in Coleman.

Twenty-eight rounds of boxing are scheduled, which will include two feature bouts. One of the features will bring together, Duke Hysop, of Lethbridge, and Murdo Morrison, of Kimberley. The other will be a bout between Jimmy Burrill, of Blairmore, formerly of Lethbridge, and Angus Morrison, also of Kimberley, brother to Murdo.

Hysop and Murdo Morrison claim to be in the pink of condition and promise to give a good account of themselves in the squared circle. Both lads have a very good record, having met and defeated some good boys. They will box as middleweight and their bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

The bout between Burrill and Angus Morrison will be a lightweight scrap, scheduled for 10 rounds also. Although very little is known about Angus Morrison, he is coming with a good reputation behind him. Burrill has strutted his stuff before the boxing fans in the Pass on former occasions. He is in good condition and promises to be in there fighting. His last victory was a one-round knockout over Jimmy Skammore, of Lethbridge. Burrill places the crowd by being a willing mixer and throwing a good drawing card.

Three preliminaries between some coming artists in the mitt game and a battle royal have been arranged. All roads will lead to the Coleman arena on the night of August 26. Nominal prices are being charged, top price being $1.00 for ring-side seat.

STRIKES BANNED

President Roosevelt is leaving little to chance in his national recovery programme. The country is backing up the President to a degree unknown since war days. And this determined co-operation is all the more remarkable owing to the well known fact that in the ranks of American industry there is a difference of opinion concerning the wisdom and the probable results of the National Recovery Act. But whilst all are not agreed on the present programme, everybody seems to feel certain that its failure would be a very serious matter—a calamity, in fact—and so there is a general rally to the call of the nation for help. It is indeed gratifying and altogether reassuring to note that labor is willing to refrain from using the weapon of the strike while the great enterprise is getting under way. Industrial and labor leaders have notified the President of such an agreement, and he has proclaimed it. There is to be a strict watch kept on

MACKENZIE KING

It is regretted that in his tour of the West, Hon. Mackenzie King will pay only a brief visit to High River. His summer trip has taken him well off the accustomed trail of public speakers, and he has penetrated more nearly to the heart of the rural West than is the custom which national leaders. He has addressed dozens of little groups of country people, picnicking for the day in community parks. These have been informal, social gatherings, making no pretence of pomp or circumstance.

In his speeches he has touched on national needs, but obviously has reserved his heavy ammunition for more suitable use at later date. The important thing in his present tour is not what he has said to the people but what the people have said to him. He cannot fail to have accumulated an immense fund of first hand information on actual Western conditions, which he could never have gathered if he had travelled the beaten routes.

It is not by delivering high-powered speeches in larger cities that a leader comes into touch with his people. He stays at the best hotels, or visits in the finest homes, meets a few well dressed people, is received altogether under the happiest of auspices, and naturally goes away to say "I saw no evidence of hard times." Naturally not, and these circumstances of electioneering serve to keep Ottawa completely out of touch with real life.

Mackenzie King has initiated a much more practical procedure. He has passed up the lavish hospitality of the palaces to reach the little people who have by their toil made possible such palaces as Canada may possess. He has doubtless observed and heard sufficient to convince him of the burden which Western people are carrying. He has had abundance of evidence that the creators of Canada's wealth do not share in that wealth to any adequate degree. It is hoped that he has caught illuminating glimpses of the want and privation that actually exist, because only through a realization by national leaders, of such conditions, can they be alleviated or removed.

His tribute to the courage and quality of the Western people is evidence that he recognizes that indomitable spirit which is carrying on in spite of overwhelming odds. There is no doubt that Mr. King's tour will be accepted by him as a great experience which should find expression in future legislation which he may advocate or evolve. He has been a welcome guest in the prairie provinces, and his unassuming method of getting acquainted has given him a much closer contact with the people, than he has ever before enjoyed—High River Times.

Sizing things up generally, a local guy remarked the other day: "Well, the more skunks, the smaller the price for hides."

In a recent issue of the Vulcan Advocate, under the heading "Cora McPherson's Plea," in the line reading: "Restoring me to my mortal rights as a wife" should have read "Restoring me to my marital rights."

all groups or individuals who might be so unapologetic as to break the truce. Millions of United States citizens are making sacrifices to assure a trial of the NIRA, but there are always those who are ready to take advantage of any national crisis for the furtherance of their selfish ends. In spite of the fact that the United States' part in the World Economic Conference was practically nullified by that nation's pre-occupation with its own recovery plans, the whole world is keenly watching Uncle Sam's gallant adventure in rebuilding his own industrial world.—The New Outlook.

Lessons Of The World Grain Show.

The great World Grain Exhibition and Conference has become a matter of history, but to the thousands of visitors who were privileged to view its wonderful display it will long be remembered as one of their most delightful and instructive experiences. Western Canadians, in particular, who had never had the opportunity of visiting the other provinces of their own Dominion must have been deeply impressed with the variety, magnitude and richness of the resources of their country, and to have obtained through the various provincial exhibits a renewed confidence in the future of Canada.

A tour of the British Columbia exhibit could not fail to have impressed one with the amazing wealth of resources in that great province. Divided into three sections, the exhibit depicted first the forest and mineral wealth of the Pacific Coast province; then the magnificent fruit products, with their attractive orchard scenes, and finally the fisheries whose products are known and in demand the world over.

On jumping over the prairie provinces and into Ontario, the visitor found, not an amazing display of manufactured products from that great industrial province, but they were impressed with the wealth which is being produced from the mines of the province as indicated by the thousands of dollars' worth of minerals on display. They learned how Ontario was proceeding with a vigorous reforestation policy to maintain its forest wealth, how forest fires are fought, and other steps taken to conserve this great natural resource.

Studying the Quebec exhibit, depicting the quiet pastoral life of the people away from the industrial centres, one could not fail to get a new understanding of the ancient province, and to realize what a steady influence it is bound to exert upon the national life of the Dominion. The teaming commerce on the mighty St. Lawrence, its great maritime ports, with the neat, intensively cultivated farms stretching back from the river banks, all conveyed a picture of beauty, strength and progress, the homes of contented thrifty people.

To visitors from other provinces and countries, the exhibits of the prairie provinces must have been a revelation indeed. Holding the view, as undoubtedly many visitors did, that these provinces produce nothing but grain and other agricultural products, they certainly had their ideas expanded. Manitoba devoted its exhibit to a display of the wild bird and animal life of that province, extending from its southern prairie fields to the arctic circle. It was one of the show exhibits of the Exhibition and people stood before it in interested crowds lost in admiration.

Alberta demonstrated that it could grow wheat by carrying off the world's wheat championship, but it also let visitors know that 14 per cent. of all the coal supplies in the world were located within its borders, that it produces tens of millions of pounds of beet sugar annually, that its lakes and rivers team with fish, that its timber areas are very large.

And Saskatchewan, popularly known as the "bread basket of the Empire," which in normal years produces more than one-half of all the wheat grown in Canada, and more than any other single province or state in the world, surprised everybody with its wonderful exhibit of huge logs from its timbered regions, its many varieties of fish, and big fish at that which would credit to a province by the sea, its mineral wealth of coal and clays in the south and richer metals in the north, its wild bird and animal life, its scenic beauty spots.

The usually accepted picture of the prairies as flat, uninteresting fields of grain, and nothing else, was dispelled by these truly wonderful exhibits. Even to the people living on these prairies they were a revelation. And to unite the whole were the comprehensive exhibits of the Dominion Government revealing in all their richness and variety the magnitude of the resources and products of Canada.

But why recall these things now the Exhibition is over? Because one of the objects of the Exhibition was to bring this knowledge in its most interesting and fascinating and compelling form to the people of Canada and the world. Seeing is believing, and those who saw Canada on parade at Regina cannot fail to have been impressed and convinced of the development and prosperity which the future has in store for this Dominion, and for every part of it.

And such conviction was reinforced by the peeps into the past which were also afforded. One had only to stick their head through the window of the old Hudson Bay trading post and examine its contents, or gaze upon the means of transportation in the days of the pioneers, not so very long ago at that—the old Red River cart, the dog sled, the Equimo boat, and contrast them with the great Hudson Bay stores at Winnipeg and Calgary, to mention only two, and with the C.P.R. and C.N.R. exhibits and the automobile exhibits of modern means of transportation, to appreciate the fact that Canada has made amazing progress in the short span of its national existence. Such progress offers but a glimpse and a promise of the still greater progress and development that is to be.

Thus in the midst of a depression which has to some extent at least shaken the confidence of many of our people, the World Grain Exhibition came with its wonderful and beautiful story. It also brought a message. It is not a message of despair, but of hope. A message that, trying and difficult as times may temporarily be, they are, after all, only temporary because a nation with such resources, with such culture, with such virile and progressive people, cannot fail to surmount any and all difficulties. Canada is for the moment caught in the maelstrom of world events and conditions beyond our control, but it will win through and rise to greater, grander heights than ever before.

Judge Fines Himself

Makes Penalty Light Because It Was His Birthday

Under the Chicago system, judges take turns sitting in the various courts, and a recent Monday was Judge Eugene J. Holland's first experience in the traffic division.

Immediately after Holland took charge, the clerk announced the first case as follows:

"City of Chicago vs. Eugene J. Holland."

Judge Holland sat up very straight and very suddenly.

"What's this?" he asked of the clerk, thinking perhaps that a joke was being played to initiate him into his new environment.

"The clerk explained that the case involved a parking charge which was several days old. Holland then recalled that he actually had received a ticket."

"Well," he said, smiling, "this is my first day in traffic court. It also is my first case here. This also happens to be my birthday. So I'm going to give myself a break. I therefore fine myself $1 and $1 costs."

Take Tremendous Chances

Aviators Flying Hours Without Rest Are Under Great Strain

Captain James Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson, both of them crack fliers, left Pendine, Wales, with the intention of flying non-stop to New York. Their plane was brought down at Bridgeport, Conn., not far distant from the objective, but the thing cracked and Mollison and his wife were somewhat injured.

In speaking of the accident, Mollison said: "I was so tired I didn't know where I was headed. He had been in the air 29 hours.

"The pilot, who insisted the globe circling trip, said: 'I went to sleep at least twenty times between Edmonton and New York,' that being a hop of 2,200 miles.

There is probably no law which says that people who go on long flights must stop now and then and take a sleep. Truck traffic has some such regulation, but not so with the fliers. Flying for 29 hours is a greater strain than the human mind and body can stand. The Mollisons would have been well advised had they come down after crossing the Atlantic and taken another hop to New York. It would not have made their trip any the less successful, and would probably have allowed them to make a perfect three-day dash to New York—Stratford Beacon Herald.

How the Rule Works

National Problem Doubly Eased When Man Obtains Job

As a national problem a man thrown out of work is only half the mischief done. It means one less worker to carry the burden of one more dependent. Fortunately, the rule works the other way when it comes to increased employment. A man in a new job means for the whole nation one more worker to carry one less dependent.

Supposing that at the depth of the depression in May we had 12,000,000 persons idle. It would mean that we had 36,000,000 persons at work. We had three people with jobs to carry one without a job. If today employment has increased by 3,500,000 jobs, it means very nearly 40,000,000 persons at work, against 8,500,000 persons still idle. We have almost five workers to carry one idle person. The social burden is almost cut in two.—New York Times.

Makes a Difference

No Music In Threshing Machine When Crops Are Poor

There is not much music in the threshing machine in these hopeless years. Its engine has a monotonous chug. The grain that pours out of its spout is small in quantity. The straw that pours from it easily finds room for itself in the yard. This lack of a prosperous look makes its dust more oppressive. The soft tongued men about the machines are silent, and the rest are talking politics in rasping voices. Poor markets and disappointing crops when they fall together, spoil the harmony of the threshing machine.

WIFE'S DELIGHT AT HUSBAND'S LOSS

30 Pounds of Fat!

Here is something all wives of fat men will be glad to know. It is the experience of a woman whose husband recently weighed 330 lbs. She writes:—

"I really feel I must write and tell you that, after taking Kruschen salts for nearly 3 months, my husband has got his weight down from 330 lbs. to 300 lbs. This has been achieved by nothing else but Kruschen. I am too heavy also, and I started taking Kruschen only three weeks ago. Already I have got down from 155 lbs. to 144 lbs. We are delighted."

—Mrs. C. Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly. To throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

Esquimo Slaying

Village Bad Man Killed By Other Members Of The Tribe

Story of the slaying of an Eskimo village "bad man" by other members of the tribe, is told in a wireless report received at the Royal Canadian Mounted police headquarters at Ottawa from Inspector T. Sandys-Wunsch, on board the Northern supply steamer "Nascopee."

Oo-Shook-Juke, an Eskimo who 13 years ago killed a fellow-aborigine at Cape Dorset, in Baffin Land, met retribution six months ago, when his own life was taken by a trio of Eskimos whom Oo-Shook-Juke had been threatening.

The dead native was regarded as insane. He had shot at his wife some time before by his own death, and for no apparent reason he had informed the three men who eventually killed him that he intended shooting them.

The trio forestalled him, and took the interest in their own hands. They decided that the tribe would be better off without Oo-Shook-Juke, and forthwith shot him.

When Inspector Sandys-Wunsch reached Wolstenholme on board the "Nascopee," the tribal chieftain and other natives were produced and an inquiry set on foot. The inspector informed headquarters that a complete report would be mailed when the "Nascopee" reached Moosehide on her homeward trip.

Nothing To Worry Them

Newfoundland Is Lucky To Have Backing Of Mother Country

It may be a bit of a shock to Newfoundlanders the pride that for a time they are to have their dominion status virtually taken away from them and the country placed under a commission which will perform all the essential functions of government. This at any rate is the recommendation of Lord Amulree's commission which came out to Newfoundland to investigate, and it is likely to be adopted.

But Newfoundlanders should not worry. Newfoundlanders should be very happy to think that somebody else is going to take over the job of straightening out the tangle into which they have gotten themselves. What has happened is simply this: One of John Bull's fiascos has got into a financial mess, and the old man is coming to the rescue. He says in effect: "Here, just stand aside for a while until I put you on your feet, and when I see that you are all right I'll step out and you can run your own nose again."

That is one of the recommendations being able to look to a "Mother Country." — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Doctor's Hand Valuable

Loss of the use of his right hand in an automobile accident has brought to Dr. Abraham Goldfort, of Chisleham, England, a verdict of $50,000 damages. His wrist was broken when he was struck by an automobile. Unable to write prescriptions he has to take an assistant with him wherever he goes.

Britain May Capture

Coveted American Cup Of Sportsman

A beautiful new streamlined racing cutter, winning race after race by spectacular margins, suddenly has revived British hopes of capturing the American cup.

The cup—"that old mug" so persistently pursued by Sir Thomas Lipton for 33 years—probably is more coveted by British sportsmen than any trophy in the world. Why Britain never has been able to regain it since it crossed the Atlantic in 1851 is a riddle.

But Britainers believe that the answer has been found in "Velhedra," ultra-modern all-steel creation of Charles E. Nicholson, who designed the last two Shamrock's for Sir Thomas Lipton. "Velhedra" embodied all the lessons Nicholson learned from the defeat of "Shamrock V." by Harold Vanderbilt's "Enterprise" in 1930.

The success of the new cutter has made it almost certain that her owner, W. L. Stephenson, will succeed the picturesque and beloved Sir Thomas as challenger for the cup. Stephenson, chairman of the British subsidiary of F. W. Woolworth & Co., named the yacht after his three daughters, Velma, Sheila and Daphne.

No contest could be held this year, since the challenge must be made at least nine months before the race, but British yachtsmen believe Stephenson will issue it in the fall if "Velhedra" keeps on winning. In the great Scottish racing festival known as the "Clyde fortnight," which just ended, "Velhedra" won five firsts and second places out of nine races over "Shamrock V." and King George's Britannia. The two wins "Shamrock" scored over "Velhedra" were by margins of only a few seconds, while all "Velhedra's" victories were decisive.

"Velhedra's" chief feature, aside from her steel hull, is the now-famous "Park Avenue" boom, frankly copied from the "Enterprise" with a few new ideas added. It greatly speeds up handling of the material. Moreover, she is equipped with all the other time-saving mechanical devices which Lipton said were responsible for "Enterprise's" victory, in the last cup race.

Almost a sure sign "Velhedra" was built to challenge for the cup is the fact that it is 88 feet on the waterline and 127 feet overall. That is longer than "Shamrock V." which felt the need of more length in the rougher American waters. "Velhedra's" cup course is longer than "Shamrock's," moreover, was noticeably inferior to "Enterprise" in sailing to windward. "Velhedra" is an improvement in this respect.

Otherwise the new cutter adheres pretty much to the international "C" class yacht. It is of slightly more than 200 tons, has a sail area of 7,500 feet, a 158-foot mast, a beam of 21 feet and draft of 15 feet lead keel weighs about 80 tons.

"The Other Club"

Distinguished Organization In London Celebrates Twenty-First Birthday

One of the most distinguished dining clubs in the world, known as "The Other Club," has just celebrated its 21st birthday, by a dinner at the Savoy Hotel, London, England, among the guests being Sir William Jowitt, former Attorney-General, and Lord Kynan, former President of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, General Jan Christian Smuts, South African statesman, presided at the coming-of-age party.

The club, founded by Winston Churchill, and the late Lord Birkhead meets once a fortnight for dinner in a private room at the Savoy during the time that Parliament is sitting. It was intended to provide a ground whereon political opponents might meet. One of the rules is that "nothing in the intercourse of the members shall be allowed to interfere with the full aptitudes of party politics."

Wheat Exports

July Was a Banner Month For Canadian Farmers

Measured in dollars and cents, July, 1933, was a banner month for the Canadian farmer. Canadiana sold 16,875,500 bushels of wheat for world markets, receiving $12,302,600, an average of 72 cents a bushel. The average return in July, 1932, was 57 cents and in July, 1931, 61 cents.

In July last year, the export of wheat—19,620,200 bushels—was higher than this year, but the return of $11,209,000 was considerably lower, making the average price 57 cents a bushel. In July, 1931, 12,069,900 bushels were exported at an average price of 61 cents a bushel.

Not Good For Business

Wheat At Low Levels Keeps World From Prosperity

British millers and corn merchants do not want wheat to remain at a low price. Sir Albert Humphries, representative of Old Country milling interests, told delegates to the World's Grain Conference at Regina. "It is not good for the producer, miller or the people as a whole for wheat to remain at low levels," Sir Albert stated. "If agriculturalists in the widest sense can be made prosperous, then the whole world will very shortly become more prosperous as well," he added.

DROUTH AND HEAT TAKES TOLL OF WESTERN CROP

Ottawa, Ont.—Canadian field crops will range from 16 to 57 per cent. below average this year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics forecast today. Drouth and heat took heavy tolls of the crops, especially in Ontario and the prairie provinces.

The most damage during July was done to crops of fax, wheat, barley and oats, the survey showed. The fax crop, on a greatly reduced acreage, was judged to be 43 per cent. of average at July 31. The condition of the wheat crop was judged to be 57 per cent. of average which with the exception of 1931 was the lowest figure at that date in the records of the bureau.

The coarse grains also suffered from drouth, the Bureau reported, and prospects were for about two-thirds of an average yield. Potatoes were placed at 84 per cent. of average. Considering all crops, the yield prospects for 1933 were among the lowest on record for Canada.

The report said for the fifth successive year, conditions on the prairie grew worse in July. Compared with conditions at the end of June, the decline amounted to over 26 per cent. Manitoba's decline was 19 per cent., Saskatchewan's 30 per cent., and Alberta's 23 per cent. The report said Alberta's yield would be one of the lowest per acre in the history of that province.

Dealing with Saskatchewan, the report said: "In every crop district of Saskatchewan, the condition of the spring wheat crop declined during July. During July, damage due to drouth, high temperatures and grasshoppers was greatest in crop districts one (in southeast corner), three (along the southern boundary and projecting inland toward the west), six and seven (extending across the west-central portion of the province)."

On Alberta the report said: "Judged by conditions at the end of June, the average wheat yield for Alberta will be one of the lowest, if not the lowest on record for that province. This is mainly due to lack of rain in southern and east-central districts where the wheat average is most concentrated. Less than half an average crop is indicated for districts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 (taking in the entire southern half of the province), which have 5,100,000 acres sown to wheat. Prospects at July 31 were for below average crops in the remainder of the province."

Italian Aviator Victim Of Seaplane Accident

Motor Trouble Caused Machine To Overturn Takeoff

Horta, Azores.—Four Italian aviators, members of General Italo Balbo's seaplane squadron, were hurt when their plane overturned during the takeoff for Lisbon, Portugal.

The flyers, Capt. Ranieri, the pilot; Lieut. Squaglia, Sergeant Cremaschi, mechanic, and Sergeant Boveri, radio operator, were taken to a hospital. Lieutenant Squaglia died as the result of congestion of the lungs.

Motor trouble caused the seaplane machine to turn over as it was leaving Ponta Delgada, Azores, when flying thousands of miles from Italy to Chicago and back. In an accident at Amsterdam in the outward journey, one flyer was killed. The ill-fated ship was called the "T-Rani."

Summer In North Over

Churchill, Man.—Although mid-summer heat waves are taking their toll south of here, fall winds are already blowing across the wastes north of Churchill. Autumn is fast approaching. This fact is brought home to residents of Churchill by the movements of trappers and birds. The trappers are moving north to their lines. The birds are moving south to the prairies.

Program Is Completed

Churchill, Man.—The week ending August fifth saw the summer program of the Hudson Bay Railway ball-basting and re-conditioning operations practically at an end. During the week the industrial spur running along the Manitoba government townsite, was completed. This spur is about one mile in length.

A bicycle rear light which flashes with the rotation of the rear wheel has been developed in England.

New Public School Readers

To introduce Change For Western Provinces When Conditions Permit. Banff, Alberta.—Introduction of new readers in public schools of the four western provinces will take place when financial conditions permit, it was decided at the meeting of the inter-provincial education committee here.

The committee consists of deputy ministers of education for the four western provinces. They are: Dr. Robert Fletcher, Manitoba; Dr. J. S. Huff, Saskatchewan; Dr. John T. Ross, Alberta; and Dr. S. J. Willis, British Columbia.

Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education for Alberta, also attended the meeting to discuss educational problems common to the four provinces.

A special committee studied the reader question and decided those now in use should be discarded in favor of up-to-date books when finances permit. The present readers have been in use for 15 years.

U.S. Grain Code

Proposal For Fair Competition For the Grain Exchanges

Washington.—A proposed code of fair competition for the grain exchanges, submitted to the farm adjustment administration, fixed definite minimum margins to be put up in virtually all speculative purchases of grain.

Other portions of the proposed code showed general rules and regulations established since the recent drop in grain prices caused farm officials to ask the exchange officials to change the regulations.

Heretofore, however, the question of margin requirements on purchases has not been definitely fixed, the regulations being that the margin be "adequate."

The proposed code calls for regulation by the grain exchanges and the carrying into effect by their officials of the rules laid down.

Receive Warm Welcome

People In Peace River Country Travel Miles To Greet Beesboroughs

Edmonton, Alberta.—Along the far flung "Peace River" front, ringing cheers welcomed to that country Canada's Governor-General, the Earl of Beesborough, accompanied by the Countess of Beesborough and party. Their Excellencies were feted all along the route on their first day's tour of the country. People came from miles around displaying the spirit of the early pioneers, to vie with each other in welcoming the vice-regent and countess.

A warm welcome at McKenna, the first stop, was followed by receptions at Falher and Peace River.

Perfect weather prevailed to mark their Excellencies' visit to the north country, a visit which they had planned last year but which had to be postponed.

Banking Investigation

Most Important Matter Before Canadian People At Present Time

Winnipeg, Man.—The royal commission on Canadian banking and currency is by far the most important matter before the Canadian people at the present time, in the opinion of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, M.P., Vancouver Centre, in Winnipeg en route to Vancouver from Great Britain. Mr. Mackenzie, who has ardently pressed for the commission since 1930, declared "recovery from our present alarming situation will be based on a proper financial system" and expressed entire approval as to the choice of Lord Macmillan as chairman of the commission.

Reduced Acreage

Ottawa, Ont.—Prairie farmers are not waiting for a world agreement to reduce wheat acreage—they're doing it themselves. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported that the acreage sown to wheat in the three prairie provinces this year declined 1,218,000 acres from 1932, a reduction of 4.6 per cent. Oats acreage increased 412,000 acres or 4.8 per cent.; barley decreased 59 per cent.; rye, 26 per cent. and fax seed, 47 per cent.

Payment On War Debt

San Francisco.—Five million dollars in Ingof silver—part payment of Great Britain's war debt installment—has been taken to the United States mint here, awaiting consignment. The metal arrived recently from Bombay. It had been transhipped at Hong Kong and again at Seattle.

Send Out Strike Ballots

Railway Hauling Trades Prepare For Possible Strike

Montreal, Que.—Members of the railroad hauling trades have set September 15 for one of the most momentous decisions in the history of Canadian railroads. On that day 24,000 members of the union will be instructed by their general chairman as to the advisability of striking—last legal step in fighting a second 10 per cent. reduction in wages enforced by both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

Ballots were mailed to engineers, conductors, trainmen, telegraphers and engine-men, marking the furthest step taken by any of the railroad unions in their fight against the reduction.

There is no change, it was stated, in the shop trades opposition to both the 10 per cent. reduction effected by the railroads at approximately a year's interval.

STUDY OF U. S. RECOVERY PLAN IS URGED HERE

Victoria, B.C.—"A statement in the press that Canadian Business Association in Montreal are making a survey of the direct and indirect results of the United States national recovery act is very interesting," commented Premier S. F. Tolmie of British Columbia, recently.

"I think the whole of Canada is watching the present efforts of the country to the south of us to bring back prosperity. They are most interesting experiments which should be carefully observed and those which appear to be practical and of benefit to Canada might be adopted here."

"The depression has given us a new vision of conditions and standing out prominently in our experience of recent years is the fact that we cannot have real prosperity without a bigger share and steadier revenue from the farmer and the wage earner."

"More orderly selling can play an important part here. The day of excessive profits appears to be past."

Winnipeg, Man.—Canada should study closely the policies involved in the United States national recovery act and their effects, and act at the earliest possible moment in the light of the experience gained, in the opinion of Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, expressed in a statement issued to the Canadian Press recently. Mr. Bracken said, aside from lessening the barriers to trade, he could see no reasonable alternative to the adoption of some such policies in Canada, modified, where necessary, to meet different conditions, but having the same purposes in view.

May Turn To Britain

Winnipeg, Man.—Influenced by the cordial reception given the new Canadian loan of $15,000,000 in London, Winnipeg may seek to float further issues in the British market, Mayor Ralph Webb said. Since 1914 Winnipeg has depended on the Canadian and American markets for capital requirements.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and one of the most popular leaders Great Britain has ever produced, was the recipient of birthday greetings recently when he passed the sixty-sixth milestone.

Eggs For Northern Port

Two Hundred Dozen Shipped To Chesterfield Inlet

Ituna, Sask.—Fresh eggs that likely won't be so fresh when they reach their destination, left Ituna recently. Two hundred and ten dozen were consigned to Sergeant Wight and Constable N. Yates at Chesterfield Inlet, N.W.T.

These eggs, packed in salt, will be food for the policemen in the north next winter. Eggs are scarce up there and fresh eggs unknown that far north.

Constable Yates, an Ituna farm lad, wrote home before he went north he never dreamt that he could eat "freighted" eggs but has learnt how since. Eggs packed in salt will keep good for over a year. They will go via railroad to Churchill and from there will be transported to Chesterfield Inlet, on a Hudson's Bay Company's service boat.

B.C. Orientals Grow Poppies

Mounted Police Said To Be Investigating Matter

Victoria, B.C.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police are believed to be investigating growth of poppies by Orientals on several tracts of land at Saanich near here. Under the law poppies may be grown but not harvested. Dried poppies brewed into tea have a morphine content of 8 per cent., according to medical authorities.

It is considered likely a test case may develop in anticipation of legislation at Ottawa forbidding growth of the flower altogether.

Survey Over For Season

Churchill, Man.—Now that the season of ice surveys is at an end, the federal government steamer "Ocean Eagle," under the command of Capt. William A. Poole, will soon be sailing through Hudson Straits on a voyage of some 3,000 miles with destination at some port in the St. Lawrence River or the maritimes. The "Ocean Eagle" will tow the dredge "Churchill No. 1" to the eastern seaboard.

CHINESE MINISTER TO VISIT OTTAWA

Dr. T. V. Soong (inset), Chinese Minister of Finance, who recently attended the World Economic Conference in London, England, has arrived at Ottawa to interview Hon. H. H. Stevens (above), Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, with a view to increasing the trade between Canada and the Orient.

London Wheat Conference

Representatives Of Wheat Exporting Countries To Meet At Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada House in London, England, will be scene of the resumed meeting of the representatives of the wheat exporting and importing countries on August 21. It was learned at the office of Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, acting deputy minister. Sir George has arranged, at the request of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, to have Hon. M. A. MacPherson, provincial treasurer of Saskatchewan, attend the next session, and Mr. MacPherson is now en route.

Mr. Bennett and Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, will attend the meeting, which is called to explore further the problems respecting wheat production and marketing.

It is understood Mr. Bennett will leave for Canada shortly after the conclusion of this meeting, and that he will be accompanied by Mr. Ferguson, who is expected to make a short visit to Ontario.

Canadian Air Pageant

Amy Johnson and Amelia Earhart To Attend Event In Montreal

Montreal, Que.—The international flying pageant, Mrs. Amy Johnson and Miss Amelia Earhart, will attend the fifth Canadian air pageant at St. Hubert flying field near here on August 19 and 20, it was announced by officials of the Montreal Light Aeroplane Club, who are arranging the show.

Word was received from both the trans-Atlantic flyers that they would take part in the women's international speed race which will be one of the chief events of the pageant. Efforts are being made to find a Canadian woman pilot to carry the colors of the Dominion.

Crop Failure

Winnipeg, Man.—Two thousand farmers in southwestern Manitoba have had a total crop failure this year, Hop. D. G. McKenzie, Manitoba Minister of Agriculture, estimated on his return from a trip through the dried-out areas. No grain will be threshed in this area and there is no feed for stock, he said.

BANK INQUIRY SESSIONS TO BE HELD IN WEST

Ottawa, Ont.—The royal commission on banking and currency concluded the public session in Ottawa for time being, and proceeded to Victoria to open the transcontinental series of public and private hearings.

Dr. W. C. Clark, deputy minister of finance, and C. S. Tompkins, inspector-general of banks for the federal government, were the witnesses and the information covered an interpretation of the functions of the government in relation to the banks as laid down in various Dominion statutes.

Calgary will be visited on the 18 and Edmonton on the 21. The commission will then proceed to Saskatoon, Regina, and Winnipeg. Precise dates for the hearing in the latter places will be announced later.

Lord Macmillan, chairman of the commission, Sir Thomas White and Beaudry Leman questioned the deputy minister on particular functions and practices in which they were interested.

Dr. Clark outlined functions of the treasury board, a small board of cabinet council presided over by the minister of finance.

Lord Macmillan brought up the question of possible friction between provinces and the federal government in respect to banking and currency. "Would it be possible to evolve an economic policy that would be applicable to all Canada and not subject to conflicting provincial policies?" the chairman asked.

Dr. Clark asked that he be excused from giving evidence on that point. Lord Macmillan recognized the question was premature, but decided to keep it to the forefront in the minds of the commission members.

Dr. Clark described the actual legal tender of Canada in complete detail, and also described the operations of the mint and replacement of currency.

"Has the royal mint operated at a profit?" asked Beaudry Leman. "Figures will have to be prepared," replied Dr. Clark. "The assay office at Vancouver has operated at a slight loss but I think the royal mint as a whole has made a profit."

BITTER ATTACK MADE ON EAMON DE VALERA

Dublin, Irish Free State.—Political tension increased with a bitter attack on President Eamon de Valera, published in the "United Irishman," official organ of former president William T. Cosgrave's party.

An allegation in the Cosgrave publication was that last week, when government officers were confiscating revolvers held by private citizens, collectors for the Irish Republican army were making a house-to-house canvass in Dublin asking for subscriptions to "arm and equip" the I.R.A.

The article also said: "Michael Collins, soldier and worker, is dead in his grave and De Valera, phrase-maker, sits in the seat of might mouthing platitudes and lost in contemplation of his own infinite superiority. The man who sits in the seat of government, elected by the sacrifices of Griffith, Collins and O'Higgins, threatens to suppress any attempt to commemorate them fittingly by the capital city of the Saorstát (the Free State), for which they gave their lives."

Opens New Trail

Aviator Flies From Banff To Vancouver Over Mountains

Banff, Alberta.—Flying in almost a bee line to the coast Captain Bill Holland pioneered a new trail from here to Vancouver making the trip in four and a half hours' flying time. Leaving here at 5 a.m., he said goodbye to guiding railway tracks about eight miles west of Banff and headed directly across the ranges.

Up and over historic Simpson Pass, across the Banff Windermere Highway, over the Brisco range and Brisco Village in the Columbia valley, over the Selkirk ranges and the "Little Known" lands immediately west of them, across the upper Arrowlake, then down at Vernon in the Okanagan to reach his 300-horse-power Boeing hydroplane, was the first half on Holland's trip.

The second half took him across the interior plateau and the Cascade range. A line drawn on the map from Banff to Vancouver touches every place mentioned.

A few minutes after 10 a.m. word was received here from Vancouver announcing Holland's safe arrival there.

Previous flights to the coast have been collected on the round-about route of the railroad so Captain Holland's feat opens up new possibilities in flying from the prairies to the coast.

Bus Line To Churchill

Motor Bus Service Between The Pas and Northern Port Is Planned

Saskatoon, Sask.—Operation of a motor bus service between The Pas and Churchill during the 1933 navigation season is proposed by the federal department of railways and canals, it was learned here. It is believed transportation will be by motor bus operating on railway tracks.

"The service will start August 10 and continue until October 15 the post office department has made arrangements for weekly postal service between The Pas and Churchill, although intermediate points will not be served."

The mail-bearing bus will leave The Pas each Tuesday at 11 o'clock in the morning to arrive at Churchill the following evening; the return mail will leave Churchill each Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning to arrive at The Pas Monday afternoon.

May Not Be Represented

Toronto, Ont.—Canada may not have a Bileys team next year, according to Col. F. F. Clarke, Montreal, chief range officer at the Ontario Rifle Association meet. The Dominion Rifle Association, which annually sends the team to Bileys, "is having a hard time to make both ends meet" since governmental grants to the association have been reduced.

Sells Horses

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.—The entire stable of Victor Emanuel has been sold at public auction at the sales ring and 18 head sold for a total of $38,400 for an average of $2,133.

Radio Institute

Toronto, Ont.—The Telegram today states plans have been completed for the establishment of an institute of radio-therapy in London, Ont., to be in operation early next year.

LOW FARES TO PACIFIC COAST

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 15.—S. widespread was the response to cent-a-mile excursions of R.D. earlier in the vacation period, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways will again offer these travel bargains in Western Canada between August 18 and September 2, it has been announced by the Canadian Passenger Association.

This time the Pacific coast will be the attraction for an early fall holiday. Bargain fare rates are good from points in Ontario as far east as Port Arthur, Port William and Armstrong and from all stations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Similarly, the same low rates will apply from Pacific coast points to all stations in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario, as far east as Armstrong and Port Arthur. The time limit of the offer for Pacific coast points, however, is from August 22 to September 6.

Tickets are good for return up to 15 days, including date of sale and as before, passengers may travel by coach or tourist sleeping car with a slight additional charge being made for the tourist car privileges.

ANTI-SNAILING

Specimens of the highway snail. The nervous driver with a disaster complex, who is likely to get what he is looking for, the "low-browed" youth, the owner of a "crook", with hardening of the valves and general arthritis. No services will be held until Sunday, August the 27th, when Holy Communion will be celebrated at 11 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fyfe, of Coleman, left by Tuesday afternoon's train for the old home in Scotland. Mr. and Mrs. Fyfe came to Coleman about twenty-two years ago, and have resided there ever since. Mr. Fyfe being employed both at the International and McGillivray mines during that period. They visited his old land about ten years ago, and in ages bordering on seventy have felt that it would be wise to leave this land of labor and return to spend their declining years near the place of their birth. They carry with them well wishes from all friends in the Crows' Nest Pass.

Three hundred and fifty years ago August the 6th, Sir Humphrey Gilbert, gallant navigator and soldier, established the first British colony in North America, when he landed on King's Beach, Newfoundland, and read his letters patent, formally taking possession of the country in the name of Queen Elizabeth. On August 5th this year, the event was commemorated. The trip from Plymouth to St. John's occupied forty-nine days. On August the 5th, 1538, Gilbert headed back to England, and it was on this voyage he lost his life when his little ten-ton Squirrel sank off the Azores.

Among the visitors to Crows' Nest Lake and pavilion since the opening of the season, the following registered at the cabins: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Young, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stille and son, Chatterbox, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neil, Maple Creek, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Buchan, Lethbridge; Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson and party, Edinburg, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Amy, Freda and Beta, who have been guests for a month at the Crows' Nest Lake cabins, have returned home to Blairmore. Mr. and Mrs. A. Moroz, of the Crows' Nest Lake cabins, have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McNeil and Miss Jean, of Calgary.

VALUABLE BANDING DATA

Winnipeg, Man., August 15.—The banding of young birds, which is carried on as a joint effort by the governments of Canada and the United States under the provisions of the Migratory Birds Convention Act, is resulting in the compilation of valuable data.

Last fall a resident of Bradoro Bay in north-eastern Quebec, shot a drake pintail which bore a small aluminum band on one of its wings. This band was stamped with a Danish name and address, which he sent to a member of the Migratory Bird staff of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa. An investigation by that department proved that the bird had been banded as a duckling on June 30, 1930, in Aldalal, northern Iceland.

In its investigations, the government is being assisted by all major organizations interested in game protection, among the most active being the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National Railways, which asks all hunters and tourists finding banded birds in Western Canada to report a description of the band to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

For completeness and finally, it would be hard to beat a report recently made to a mercantile agency regarding the credit standing of a merchant. The reporting correspondent wrote: "Credit O.K. Has been out of business some time. Also dead."

Your eyes say
IT'S A BEAUTY
Your Pocketbook says YOU SAVE

YOU must have noticed what a wonderful way the new Chevrolet has with the ladies. How feminine eyes so often linger long on Chevrolet's trim, sparkling Fisher bodies. How feminine hands take so naturally to Chevrolet's easy handling and control. How fresh-coiffed feminine heads approve of No-Draft Ventilation.

Then there's the matter of economy. Try to find the woman—or the man—who isn't interested in saving money this year, and therefore enthusiastic over the way Chevrolet does it: With the lowest price of any full-size, closed Six! With the lowest cost for gas and oil of any standard car! With the best reputation of any low-priced car for carefree service and freedom from repairs!

All of which brings us to the thing that everybody likes most—Chevrolet's quality! Here is a big, powerful Six... with a smooth, snappy engine that has been proved by thousands of owners... a wood-and-steel Fisher body, the strongest and safest known... a husky frame and chassis that stays sturdy and tight over years of use... and upholstery, fittings and interior luxury far ahead of anything else in Chevrolet's field. Chevrolet owners have proved that Canada's smartest low-priced car saves you money on everything. And no doubt that's the reason why Chevrolet leads all cars in sales, from one end of the country to the other.

District News

From Our Own Correspondents

LEE LAKE ITEMS

Sunday was indeed a busy day at camp, and places for lunching were at a premium. The campers were kind enough to offer assistance and lend the visitors their cool nooks by the lakeside, in order to have their meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ritchie and family are again here, after spending a week's holiday in Calgary.

Miss Frances Coastick arrived Sunday from Calgary, to spend the rest of her vacation.

A few of the visitors seen were Mr. and Mrs. R. Lynch-Stanton and grandson, Miss Annie Wilson and Mrs. Roeder and family from Tacoma, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cox, Joe Heaton, Mr. Galloway, Mr. Headphay, Mr. S. Sandman and children, Miss Elton, Mr. Elton, junior, all from the North Fork; Mr. and Mrs. E. Linville, Bram Goodwin and friends, Mrs. Ennis and daughters and Mr. and D. Ennis and children, of Blairmore; Mrs. Ernest Bent and family, Land-breck. A truckfull of lively youngsters, belonging to the Rhodes family, had a real picnic with Grandma Rhodes at the head. The lake was in good circulation when this happy bunch took to the water.

Sam Pearson, of Calgary, and Vernon Pearson, of Edmonton, were lunch guests at the ranch, enroute to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Handasyde intend leaving on Tuesday for their farm near Etzikom.

As the evening drew to a close on Sunday, Scotchman's Flat became alive—people glad to enjoy the cool breezes from the lake after the heat and dust of the day.

When you are good to others you are best to yourself.—Franklin.

TENDER, ACHING, SWOLLEN FEET

Tender, Aching Feet Get Amazing Relief.

You probably feel like a lot of other people that about all you can do is dust some powder in your shoes or give your feet a special foot bath and let it go at that, but you're not foolish. Make up your mind today that you are going to give your feet a real chance to get well.

Go to the Blairmore Pharmacy or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your foot troubles will be a thing of the past.

One bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to solid foot comfort.

Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

PITY THE PREACHER

The preacher has a great time. If his hair is gray he is too old. If he is a young man he hasn't had experience. If he has ten children he has too many, if he has none, he isn't setting a good example. If his wife sings in the choir she is presuming.

If she doesn't she isn't interested in her husband's work.

If a preacher reads from his notes,

he is a bore; if he speaks extemporaneously he isn't deep enough.

If he is seen around the streets he ought to be home getting up a good sermon, and if he stays at home in his study he doesn't mix with the people. If he calls on some poor family, he is playing grandstand, and headaches?

sluggishness?

SYNOPSIS
Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful student in an art school, unconsciously sketches the head of a fellow student during class and when she is supposed to be drawing a Grecian urn. The professor, looking at her sketch, embarrasses Camilla by having Peter Anson, the boy whose head she sketched, criticize her work before the class. Afterwards, Camilla goes to the park outside to cry. A hand touches her shoulder. It turns out to be Peter, who apologizes for his action and consoles her. Camilla secretly adores him. He makes a date to see her that evening but is surrounded when she names an expensive night club. It is far beyond his means but he resolves to go through with it. Peter takes her to the theatre first and then to the night club where they meet some of Camilla's friends.
(Now go on with the story.)

CHAPTER IV.

Peter danced with Camilla, his arms aching for Camilla. He felt clumsy now, and self-conscious. But Camilla told him gushingly, "You're a marvelous dancer, Mr. Anson. I could dance with you all night."

"I'd never last that long! And I don't like to dance, anyway," he told her bluntly.

"Not even with me?" she pouted.

"Oh, you're all right. It's just that I don't like to dance."

"Then why did you bring Camilla here?"

"Because she wanted to come here, I believe."

"That's just like her. She gets everything she wants."

"I suppose so. But why shouldn't she?"

"That's what everyone seems to think. But she never troubles herself about making anyone else happy—any more."

"Has she changed recently?"

"She is more changed every time I see her, which isn't often. She doesn't play with the crowd like she used to, and she acts most of the time as if she were far away, when she is around."

"Perhaps she's getting serious about life and trying to find some definite work. I met her at National."

"I know. She's been going for the intellectual stuff—in a big way and cutting the rest of us. She is down-right snooty, lately," Camilla shrugged.

"Oh, yes, I've forgotten them."

"That's good. Well, goodnight."

She placed her little white-gloved hand in his. The soft night air rumbled the bright hair on his bare head and she stifled a sudden impulse to reach up and smooth it.

"Goodnight," she whispered, and was gone before he could think what more to say.

The pulsing motor of the cab recalled him to his senses. He sprang in and slammed the door. He rode only to the nearest car line and dismissed it, parting with his last ten dollars, half of which he received in change. It was all that was left of his "roll" that he had provided for appearance, promising himself to tonight. But it was gone, and all he had was a sweet memory that would have to last him for many months.

Camilla flung herself upon the high mahogany four-poster bed. Long ago, when she had first slept in that bed she had felt like a fairy princess. It had symbolized the utmost in grandeur and luxury to her then. For the past three years, she had hated it more every night she slept there. But she was not hating Peter. At least, that is what she declared to herself, over and over. That was because she was sure that she never could have him.

your wounds to me and I'll bandage them up for you. I might feel sorry for you because you're a nice boy. Her wounds were serious."

"Thanks a lot, Miss Harris. You are very kind." She ignored the reproof in his voice, and when they danced again, spoke only in gay banter. Peter's eyes followed Camilla's little grace in Peter's arms, covetously. He grudging the loss of one moment with her, the more because he knew he would never dare to take her out again.

The supper order appalled him. Lucky he had brought the extra money. He was in for it, all right. And he might expect the same thing to happen any time he made a date with Camilla. She had scores of wealthy friends whom they would encounter everywhere. As her escort, he had to be prepared to act as host any time.

Passing her on the floor, he came to her with the orchestra, "Save the last dance for me, sweetheart."

She nodded smiling. The last dance, he thought. Their last, for she was leaving, and he knew he would care more than if it were.

Terry ordered more drinks when they returned to the table.

"Nothing for me," Camilla declined. As host, Peter felt obliged to join his guests. "Ginger ale," he said, and apologized to Terry "Eight o'clock tomorrow and a headache won't go."

"Don't you hate the grind?" drawled Terry, luxuriatingly sipping his high ball.

"Grind!" Peter exclaimed with surprise.

"Mr. Anson is one of those rare people who likes to use his brains," Camilla explained.

Was she laughing at him, Peter wondered, and grew miserable. Perhaps Camilla was right. She was beginning already to punish him for his absurd hopes.

The waiter presented two bills, one for the food and one for the drinks. The total astounded Peter, but he paid without a flicker of hesitation. He had had his fling and it would last him for awhile. "Let that be a lesson to you," mocked the orchestra and the tenor soloist, in a sudden crescendo. It would be, he resolved.

But when he took Camilla into his arms for the last dance, he forgot bank balances that looked like supper charges and supper checks that looked to him like the figures of a bank's resources.

"Goodnight, sweetheart," sighed the music, "till we meet tomorrow," crooned the tenor's plaintive voice.

"Years and parting may make us forlorn," echoed Peter's heart; then Camilla raised her eyes to meet his and his hopes lifted, "but with the dawn, a new day is born, so I'll say goodnight, sweetheart, goodnight."

The ride home was far too slow in time and far too long by the taxi meter that ticked with jeering incessance. Peter wished that he might dismiss the cab and nonchalantly walk home after a lingering goodnight, but Camilla managed that.

"You needn't come in. It's very late and you have an eight o'clock class you know, I've had a lovely time, Mr. Anson."

"Thanks, Miss Hoyt. So have I. Did we chase away your blackie-bug?"

"Oh, yes, I've forgotten them."

"That's good. Well, goodnight."

She placed her little white-gloved hand in his. The soft night air rumbled the bright hair on his bare head and she stifled a sudden impulse to reach up and smooth it.

"Goodnight," she whispered, and was gone before he could think what more to say.

The pulsing motor of the cab recalled him to his senses. He sprang in and slammed the door. He rode only to the nearest car line and dismissed it, parting with his last ten dollars, half of which he received in change. It was all that was left of his "roll" that he had provided for appearance, promising himself to tonight. But it was gone, and all he had was a sweet memory that would have to last him for many months.

Camilla flung herself upon the high mahogany four-poster bed. Long ago, when she had first slept in that bed she had felt like a fairy princess. It had symbolized the utmost in grandeur and luxury to her then. For the past three years, she had hated it more every night she slept there. But she was not hating Peter. At least, that is what she declared to herself, over and over. That was because she was sure that she never could have him.

Then her memory, exulted in the fact he had looked at her when they danced, the dear words he had said. He was so precious, just as she had known he would be before he had talked to her that day. Was it only today that he had first spoken to her, and changed her whole world? How strange life was, that years could pass in which nothing of importance ever happened, and then, a few hours could suddenly hold so much happiness and beauty!

"But he didn't ask to see you again!" he thought again, and she was plunged into misery again. He had been so sorry for her because of the incident in class that day, and taking her out was his chivalrous way of apologizing. Her face burned with remorse at the memory of his finding her in the park in tears. It angered her. She was angry and hurt—because she was in love and not at all sure of being loved. That was why she wanted to take Peter.

Another Tradition Ended

Last Hudson Bay Company Ship Has Sailed From England

Recently the ice-breaker "Nascopie" steamed down the Clyde from Ardrossan, marking the end of a tradition that has lasted 243 years.

In 1688 the first 24th "Nascopie" sailed from Gravesend to Hudson Bay with forty-two men, the pioneers of the Hudson Bay Company. It was the dashing Prince Rupert, the first Governor, who backed this first venture of the Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading Into Hudson's Bay and ever since then ships have sailed from Britain to Canada, with stores and provisions and back from Canada to Britain with cargoes of furs.

But the "Nascopie" is the last of them, and will never return to British waters. The departure was the last sailing of a Hudson Bay Company ship from Britain. The "Nascopie" will remain permanently in Canadian waters and fur collections will in future be shipped each year to England by the regular Atlantic liners to London.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Tact Of The Japanese

People Carefully Avoid Saying Anything That Might Displease

It is not an exaggeration to say that it is a social crime in Japan to give in answer to a question any reply (however true) which may displease, or to ask for any favour which will make necessary a blunt refusal. Among certain peoples the messenger of evil was rewarded with death; in Japan, unless he conveys his message with suitable circumlocutions, he is likely to be ostracized as a barbarian. Blunt negatives and direct refusals are, in fact, unknown to the code of the Japanese, and in order to convey such notions one must speak circuitously, casting hints of one's meaning here and there. Thus the conversation of two Japanese must not be taken at its face value, for each is engaged in suggesting, not deliberately stating his meaning and trying to discover the implications of a string of conventional phrases and vague suggestions. Japan is no place for those who pride themselves on speaking their mind.

An Ancient Debt

Land In Ontario Granted Over 100 Years Ago By British King

An ancient debt to 200 acres of land in Ontario, granted over 100 years ago by England's reigning monarch of that period, is in possession of Miss Genevieve Lent, of Calgary. The deed is written on parchment as thick as velvet with the royal seal, in beewax, attached.

The royal act transferred 200 acres of land in the township of Chatham to Amelia Van Dusen, United Empire Loyalist, daughter of Miss Lent's ancestor, Amelia Van Dusen, one of the first women to hold land in her own name in Canada. She is also the only woman on record to have received a direct grant from the king in those days.

New Species Of Fish

When Glamor Is Gone

Many Retired Farmers Find City Life Not So Attractive

A fair amount of the glamor of city life has been brushed aside during the past three or four years. Many a farmer who retired from the land with what he thought was enough capital to see him through for the rest of his days, has found that investments he made have made him not as profitable as they were. Many of them—most of them no doubt—will come back, but in the meantime many of these farmers are experiencing a hard time which they never knew on the farm. Those who expected to supplement their income with city jobs have realized that when depression hits a country a factory job is an uncertain commodity, while other expenses have a habit of continuing as usual.

So the old farm looks attractive, and experience has shown that its imaginary discomforts are merely blessings in disguise.

Thunder Storms Never Cease

About 1,500 Raging In Different Parts Of World Every Minute

It is estimated that the approximate number of thunderstorms occurring in the world is about 1,500 in the course of a year is 16,000,000.

This works out at 44,000 a day, and if we make allowance of an hour for the average duration of each, a simple calculation tells us that at any one minute there are probably some 1,500 storms raging simultaneously over the continents, islands and oceans.

From the known mass rate of electrical discharges it may also be deduced that in every second of time there must be about 100 flashes of lightning passing either from cloud to earth or from cloud to cloud in the whole world.

Thunderstorms reach their greatest frequency in equatorial and tropical regions where 100 to 150 a year is quite an ordinary number. In parts of Java and near the mouth of the Amazon, the annual number is said to exceed 200, and with such regularity do the storms break out there during the latter half of the year that certain seasons that in issuing invitations a week or two ahead it is customary to indicate whether guests are expected to arrive before or after the usual deluge.

Another Serious Pest

Clover Dodder Brought To Canada From Southern Europe

There is probably no weed in the universe so much legislated against as clover dodder, which was introduced into Canada from Europe. It is a serious pest in France, Spain, Italy, and other southern European countries; in Chile and other parts of South America, in the United States, and in fact in all countries where it has long summers without frost. During the years of shortage in clover seed crops in Europe it was frequently introduced and distributed in imported seed and its ravages on red clover have been especially a serious pest in southern Ontario and the Pacific coast in years following an exceptional drought. It is now a serious pest in Canada, and is being introduced in alfalfa for three years. Finally infested fields should be ploughed under before seed forms.

One Air Banned

There is no man in the Navy more popular than Admiral Sir John Kelly. The stories told about him are legion. One, when directing general drill, in which it is customary always to include at least one unorthodox order, he gave instructions: "Three hands from each ship are to be sent to the flagpole, and on arrival to play a popular air." There was added, above his signature, this note: "For the purpose of this exercise, 'His anybody here seen Kelly?' will not be recognized as a popular air."

Needed Sea Trade

A Polish poet of the 18th century said that "a Pole need not know what the sea is as if he ploughs diligently," but modern Poland has learnt that her prosperity depends on sea trade, and 62 per cent. of her foreign trade is now sea-borne.

War Enemies Never Met

Foch and Hindenburg Disappointed When Plans Were Spoiled

Hindenburg and his great antagonist Foch never met.

Nor did the field-marshal-president ever have the opportunity of talking over the war with Petain, Joffre, Lyautey, Fayolle and Franchet d'Esperey, the other French marshals. Yet like a good professional soldier, he would have liked nothing better.

However, he came within an ace of meeting Foch, for whose character and tactical ability he had the highest regard. It took his elevation to the presidency of the Reich to forestall what would have been an historic encounter.

In the autumn of 1924, Foch told his aide, Major Rene L'Hopital, that he hoped some day to meet Hindenburg, "not as a Frenchman and a German, but as two old soldiers."

L'Hopital, who knows German as thoroughly as he knows English got busy. Through personal friends in Berlin, he had his chiefs de poste brought to Hindenburg's ears. The old marshal readily acquiesced.

Then came the problem of how to arrange the meeting. "Nationalistic feeling was running high in both France and Germany. Hindenburg's hobnobbing with the hereditary enemy would have caused a storm of protest. Foch's fraternizing with his German counterpart would have made the Third Republic rock.

L'Hopital, always a diplomat, found a way out. Foch was to go down to Garmisch ostensibly to inspect the view to Lake Tegernitz in the early spring garbison. Hindenburg at the same time would be taking the cure in Baden-Baden. Overnight the ex-generalissimo of the Allies would motor over the Kohl bridge, unannounced, with L'Hopital as the early interpreter.

The stage was all set for the influx of 1925. Then Hindenburg's fellow-countrymen elevated him to the presidency. And while a retired German army officer might very well meet a retired French army officer privately, it was naturally out of the question for the president of Germany to receive Marshal Foch under any circumstances.

Foch regretted the missed opportunity until he was dying. "I have the highest regard for Hindenburg," he frequently told friends, "I consider him a really great man."

PERSPECTIVE

Let me not ever live too near
The things that cause me fret and fear,
Let things I look upon
May loom so vast they hide the sun.
And with dark shadows shut away
The glamour of the golden day.

Nor let me hold too near my heart
The loves which form life's happiest part.
Too much of brilliance blinds the eyes,
May I love well, yet still be wise
And go, undazzled by the gleam
Of love, which makes earth's loveliest dream.

Let me not ever live too near
The things most dreaded or most dear;
Too much of shade, too much of gloom,
Slight, dimmed or dazzled, is the same.
Ah, let me see my bliss or strife
As part, but not the whole of life!

New Hybrid Oats

Experiments At University Of Saskatchewan Produce Drought Resistant Variety

New hybrid of oats under test at the University of Saskatchewan are showing much greater resistance to drought than the standard varieties, Dr. J. B. Harrington, in charge of cereal experiments, observes. Several varieties of barley such as Colusa and Regal also show far more ability to stand drier weather than O.A.C. 21 barley common grown in Canada.

Dr. Harrington believes that the experimental results this year while crops are small will provide valuable information on such questions as the smattering of grain varieties.

Little Helps For This Week

"The God of all grace who hath called us unto His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered awhile, make you perfect, stable, strengthen and settle you." — Peter 5.10.

How shall thou bear the cross that now
Go dread a weight appears?
Keep quiet to God, and think
Upon the eternal years.

The world has no room for cowards.
We must all be ready somehow
To toil, to suffer, and to die.
And yours is not the less noble life because no drum beats before you when you go out into your daily battle-fields, and no crowd shouts about your coming when you return from the daily victory or defeat.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

We cannot say this of that trouble shall not befall, yet we may by help of the Spirit say nothing that doth befall shall make me do that which is unworthy of a Christian.—R. Sibbes.

Last Of Her Line

Pictureque Sailing Schooner Of Great Lakes To Be Burned

One of the ancient sailing schooners, a thousand of which at one time transported the commerce of the Great Lakes, before the age of steam, is to be burned as a public spectacle at Toronto. The vessel is the "Lyman M. Davis," built sixty years ago, 128 feet long, 450 tons gross weight, with two masts 130 feet high above the deck and carrying intricate rigging aloft such as was never seen on the sailing ships of the early days, demanding the services of unusually capable sailors.

It is a tribute to the material and workmanship put into ships constructed sixty years ago that they are so worthy and would be quite efficient as carriers today if they had not been rendered obsolete by the advance of the machine age which has been just as dominant in the sphere of shipping as in other industries where human hands have been displaced by iron and steam.

The sailing craft is gone from the Lakes so far as commerce is concerned and with it much of the romance associated with ships and sailors. A few men and boys get recreation from sailing pleasure boats in amateur races and the like. There was a day when the sailboat was a big carrier of money and much of the business of the country depended on the ability and resourcefulness of lake sailors.

A Toy Lending Centre

A "toyery" or lending centre for toys has been opened at the New York University Community Centre, at which toys will be lent to children for one week or two weeks, as books are lent at the public library. Children applying for toys must be accompanied by their parents. An appeal for toys whose owners had outgrown or discarded them was made by the organization.

Jan. Milne, Prop. Phone 46 Blairmore, Alberta

Born, in Edmonton on Friday, August the 11th, at the Royal Alexandra hospital, to Dr. P. H. and Mrs. Malcolmson (nee Eleanor Farmer) a son, Mrs. Malcolmson is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Farmer.

Constable Wark, of the R.C.M.P., who has been assigned special duties near Corbin, was in town last week end.

In connection with the council's proposition at last meeting to send Councillor Olson to Ottawa in the interest of Workers' Unity League or Mine Workers' Union unemployed, Councillor Evans raised strong objection to such throwing away of Blairmore ratepayers' money. In the face of passing $200 for such purpose, it is very difficult to understand how the council can prove the necessity for a business tax, or any other new form of taxation.

W. D. Spence, assessment commissioner, of Edmonton, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in town, hearing appeals against the business tax and general taxation assessments. Quite a number were dealt with, most of the appellants being represented by S. G. Bannan. Decisions of the commission will be in the hands of the secretary-treasurer and appellants in a few days.

We are asked to state that the visit of certain ladies from Hillcrest to Waterton Lakes recently was not under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

A Greyhound bus, parking at Red Deer, crossed the sidewalk and crashed through a jewelry store window, doing damage estimated at around $400.

Mr. Kidney, of the provincial department of municipal affairs, accompanied W. D. Spence, assessment commissioner, to Blairmore this week.

A caravan of seven vehicles, drawn and followed by seventeen horses, passed through Blairmore today, en route from northern Alberta to Sand Point, Idaho.

The new Italian liner Rex made a new record, crossing the Atlantic from Gibraltar to New York in four days, 13 hours and 58 minutes, at an average speed of 28.92 knots.

Gandhi has made up his mind this time to fast till death. And folks are wondering why Murphy hasn't called a sympathy strike at Blairmore.

J. E. Gillis left last week end for Chicago, where he is special representative from Alberta to the world convention of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Gillis will return home next week.

Eggs should be packed broad end up, according to the information service of the Ottawa department of agriculture. Investigation has proved that packing with the broad end down results in watery whites in eggs.

The death of Mrs. Emma Green Borthwick, wife of Alexander Borthwick, occurred at Pincher Creek on Thursday evening last at the age of 83 years. She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters; also one sister, Mrs. Rhodes, and two brothers, Charles Green, of Pincher Creek; and William Green, of Lundbreck.

We have no objection to submit against Albert Olson accepting $200 from the town of Blairmore to go to Ottawa, but as a delegate of the unemployed, of district or provincial interest, the town council of Blairmore had absolutely no right in granting the two hundred. The Town's Act clearly stipulates for what purposes taxes may be assessed, and the purpose to which this $200 has been applied is not covered by the act. No doubt the Department of Municipal Affairs has taken cognizance of the Blairmore council on this occasion, with others, overstepping their rights, and it is surprising to the bulk of reasonable thinking ratepayers that the department has not before now taken steps to stop this mal-administration.

Thomas Allen and family are away on a two-weeks' vacation.

Joe Misson and family returned Friday last from a motor visit to Creston and Spokane.

Arthur Poirier, former resident of Beaver Mines, died at the Lacombe home on August 2nd, aged 61 years.

A London judge said that a woman is too old to learn to drive a car at 42. But we have heard of seventy-year-old back-seat drivers in Canada.

Miss Milda Bond, B.N., is down from Calgary on a visit to her parents. Miss Bond recently returned from a visit to the world's fair at Chicago.

That $200 thrown away by the town council last week could have bought a ticket to Russia, or go a long way toward the cost of a swimming pool.

A number of poker artists from Coleman were haled before court here the early part of the week, and helped out the court's treasury considerably.

In the days of the Old Testament, it was considered a miracle for an ass to speak. Lately, in the Crows' Nest Pass, it looks as though nothing but a miracle would keep one quiet.
